Quadro Leak Control Box – Technical Information Guide

The Quadro In-Wall Tapware range incorporates a purpose-designed Leak Control Box, which securely houses the valve body within a durable protective enclosure. This system provides an additional layer of protection, designed to help manage and contain water in the unlikely event of a leak.

Tapware Models:

QT7104 – Quadro Wall Mounted Basin Mixer and Spout

QT7106 – Quadro Shower/Bath Mixer

QT7108 – Shower Mixer with Diverter

How it works:

Concealed Protection in the Unlikely Event of a Leak

In the unlikely event of a leak, the Leak Control Box captures and contains the water before it can reach surrounding structures. The contained water can be safely directed to a visible area or drain for early detection and easy maintenance. Discreetly housed behind Quadro in-wall tapware, the Leak Control Box acts as a hidden safeguard — protecting your investment, your home, and your health.

Key Features & Benefits:

- Helps prevent water damage— Designed to capture and redirect any water in the unlikely event of a leak, helping protect internal wall structures.

- Durable construction – Manufactured from high-quality ABS plastic for long-lasting performance and resistance to corrosion, impact, and high temperatures.

- Reduces risk of mould and dampness — Supports a healthier building environment by limiting potential moisture build-up behind walls.

- Simplifies installation — A protective plastic cover to shield internal components and a built-in level to support fast, accurate installation by plumbers and builders.

- Customisable fit — Box can be trimmed to suit final wall lining depth, ensuring flexibility and a clean, integrated finish.

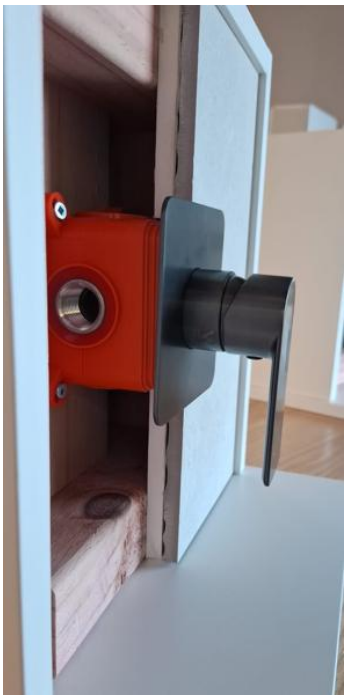

- Tidy, professional look — The accompanying faceplate overlaps the Leak Control Box by 10mm on all sides, concealing rough cut-outs and delivering a clean, polished appearance.
